SINGAPORE | Pro-Link GLOBAL Group Boosts Asia Expansion With New Singapore Office

New subsidiary demonstrates company's increased footprint in key growth markets

Singapore, Singapore - 8 Nov 2011: Pro-Link GLOBAL (PLG) has announced the opening of a new branch office in Singapore, as part of the company's continued geographic expansion to increase its presence in key growth markets in support of its global strategy.

The new Pro-Link GLOBAL Singapore Pte Ltd offices are located in the very central Market Street area with quick access to the Immigration Department Ministry of Manpower offices being paramount. The team is headed up by seasoned immigration expert, Jacqueline Au, who has spent the last 10 years making Singapore Immigration her forte. She has worked for reputable relocation companies managing their Immigration departments, and served as KGNM liaison to Pro-Link GLOBAL in her previous role.

The Singapore office is part of a broad strategy of investment that PLG is making in Asia and follows the recent opening of new locations in Shanghai, Beijing and Tianjin. This gives PLG a direct presence in more than seven Asian locations including China, Malaysia and Singapore.

The expanded presence in Singapore will enable PLG to increase its level of service to clients and partners across the Asia region and deliver more advanced and high-value solutions across many industries. PLG already serves a number of key clients in Asia spanning sectors including finance, legal, IT, telecommunications, electronics, and government.

"Expanding into Singapore offers PLG an important business opportunity as we expand our presence throughout the Asian continent," said Lance Elliott, Vice President, Global Operations. "This demonstrates PLG's commitment to expand into new markets to provide innovative solutions for our clients and partners. Singapore is one of more than 10 PLG branch offices across 140 growth market countries."

PLG is also engaged in an active program of corporate citizenship across the world. Since 2009, PLG has deployed its most talented employees on projects in Singapore, Shanghai, Tianjin, Hungary, Bulgaria, Brazil, London, Spain and Poland with the aim of fostering training, development and job creation.

"By opening a direct presence in Singapore and many other markets on the continent, PLG overcomes one of the biggest barriers to entry in Asia, namely being able to offer local support and insights to our clients and business partners," says Michelle Juul, Manager, Best Practice & Compliance.
