

Worldwide ERC Awards GMS Designation to Michele Longley of Pro-Link GLOBAL Visa & Immigration Services

Worldwide ERC®, the workforce mobility association, recently announced that Michele Longley, Business Development Manager with Pro-Link GLOBAL Visa & Immigration Services of Bradenton, FL U.S.A. has earned the Global Mobility Specialist (GMS™) designation after successfully completing the GMS™ series of courses and exams.

Bradenton, FL (PRWeb) March 26, 2008 -- Michele Longley joins nearly 2,000 global workforce mobility professionals in 42 countries who carry this distinctive professional designation.

GMS™ designees are required to demonstrate professional mastery in developing and administering assignment policies, managing various types of international assignment cycles, and coordinating legal and tax compliance processes, in addition to cultural competency in managing international assignees and participating on global teams. Tools are presented in the context of regionally relevant mobility case studies and current research on demographics, HR and business trends.

Mark Giorgini, Chief Human Resources Consultant with China Vanke Company Limited, and member of Worldwide ERC®'s 2008 Board of Directors, notes that the GMS™ program "provides a framework to enable Worldwide ERC® to disseminate critical issues facing global mobility professionals today, such as ensuring a good return on human capital investments, retaining critical talent, building a global mindset, and providing excellent duty of care in even the most difficult environments." To maintain the GMS™ credential, designees take continuing education classes which expand and build on their knowledge.

With the Pro-link GLOBAL Keiretsu Global Network Members (KGNM) constantly growing and expanding internationally, the global mobility specialist training that Michele has obtained will enhance the personalized concierge level of service that has made Pro-Link GLOBAL a world renowned global immigration practice.
